Where Borders Meet - The Response Fifteen artists from Graphic Studio Dublin

This innovative exhibition of 15 Graphic Studio Dublin members is the final stage of a three-year project, beginning with an exhibition in Poland followed by an intensive two-week residency in Gorlice, Poland. This show portrays the artists' response to their residency and was shown at MOK Gallery, Debica, Poland as the second part of this international project.

Yeats and the Golden Age of Print Sligo Art Gallery

5th February - 30th April

An exhibition of fine art prints by 22 Graphic Studio Dublin artists, based on the poems of William Butler Yeats.

March 2010

4th March - 27th March

Niall Naessens, An Cuileann (detail), etching

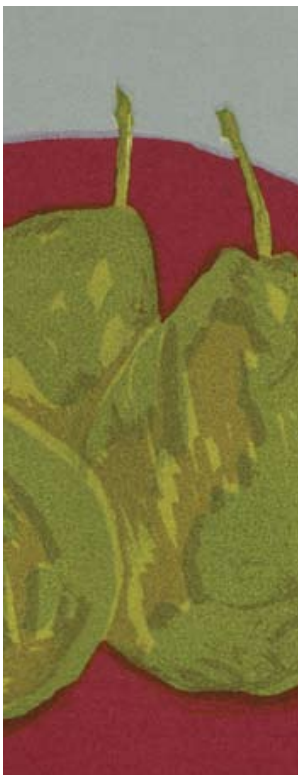

New Works

Niall Naessens

This exhibition comprises of a suite of coloured etchings and monoprints made in Niall Naessens' new studio at Lios na Caolbhaí, Brandon, Co Kerry. Ideas developed from his contact with the surrounding landscape provide the imagery for these new works. The vastness of this landscape is whittled down and developed through the discipline of etching into small cameos.

Alice Hanratty & Siobhan Hyde

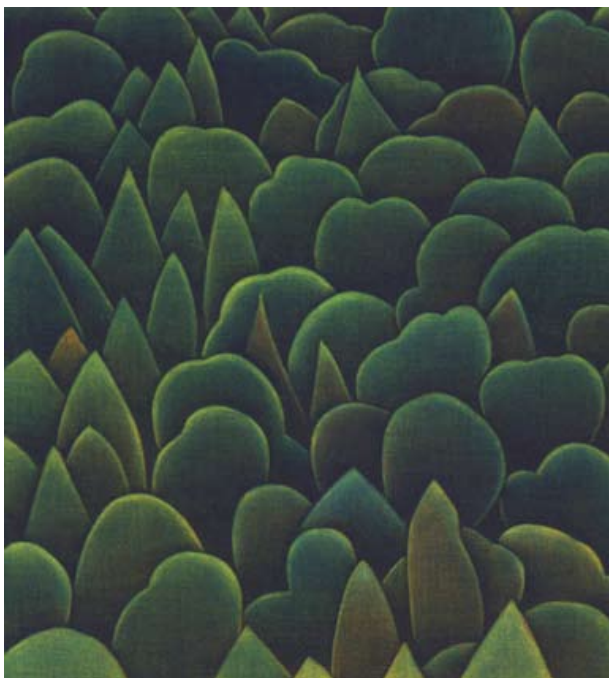

A two-person exhibition of new works by artists Alice Hanratty and Siobhan Hyde.

Alice Hanratty, member of Aosdána and a recognised national and international printmaker, portrays a series of figures based on classical antiquity.

A graduate of NCAD, Siobhan Hyde focuses on the historical importance of still-life imagery. Hyde acknowledges the grace, beauty and the social importance of such imagery and explores the simplification of common fruit and flowers through a series of screenprints.

May 2010

6th May - 29th May

James McCreary, Forest (detail), mezzotint

New Works

James McCreary, Michael Cullen & Leo Higgins

An exhibition of artworks by a printmaker, a painter and a sculptor. A member of Aosdána and Graphic Studio Dublin, James McCreary's mezzotints explore the world of forests and our never-ending push and pull of our relationship with the forest. Michael Cullen, one of Ireland's leading painters has created a suite of etchings with masterprinter Robert Russell. Leo Higgins, renowned sculptor and urban Dubliner draws on the city and his highly technical background as sources for his sculptures.

13th May - 16th May
